ANALYSIS OF FEEDBACK FROM TEACHERS

Feedback was collected from teachers on curriculum using a feedback form, which was circulated among teachers. The form consisted of 10 items related to the curriculum, for which the teachers needed to respond to each item as excellent, very good, good, average or poor.

The analysis of the collected feedback was done. It revealed that the teachers are, in general, satisfied with the B.Ed. curriculum with respect to the relevance of the content covered, practical applicability, learner centeredness, social relevance, outcome-based nature of the curriculum framework and provision for continuous evaluation and assessment. However, they are concerned about periodic updation and provision for creativity boosting. and to some extent, about the curriculum support to enhance leadership qualities.

ANALYSIS OF FEEDBACK FROM EMPLOYER

Feedback was collected from the employer on curriculum using a feedback form. The form consisted of 10 items related to the curriculum, for which the employer needed to respond to each item as excellent, very good, good, average or poor.

The analysis of the collected feedback revealed that the employer is fully satisfied with the B.Ed. curriculum with respect to its ability to contribute to the goal of the college, facilities of the college to implement the curriculum effectively, curriculum support in terms of skill enhancement and leadership qualities, creativity boosting, and the cultivation of values and soft skills. Also, the employer has very good opinion regarding curriculum support in terms of employment, role of curriculum to create interest in higher learning and in physical development.

ANALYSIS OF FEEDBACK FROM THE HEADMASTER/HEADMISTRESS OF PRACTICING SCHOOLS

Feedback was collected from the headmaster/ headmistress of practicing schools on curriculum using a feedback form, which was handed over to them during practice teaching. The form consisted of 10 items related to the curriculum, for which the headmaster/ headmistress needed to respond to each item as excellent, very good, good, average or poor.
