PROCEDURE ADOPTED FOR THE COMPREHENSIVE APPRAISAL OF INTERNS

Effectiveness in Class room Teaching:

The college guarantees the efficacy of student teachers' instruction in the classroom at the schools. Every stage of the internship involves teacher educators observing classes and thoroughly evaluating the lesson plans created by the students. The school's mentor teachers and teacher educators provide essential recommendations that help them become more proficient educators. The many elements being evaluated include the ability to introduce a lesson, the learning experiences offered, the contact with students, topic expertise, the use of ICT and other teaching-learning resources in the classroom, classroom management, assessment techniques, and the ability to close a topic. Student teachers are shaped into future instructors of promise through a total of 40 classes during the internship (Phase I) and another 40 classes during the internship (Phase II).

Competency acquired in evaluation process in schools:

In order to evaluate their pupils in classrooms, student instructors receive training in a variety of evaluation methodologies. Throughout the internship sessions, evaluation procedures are conducted in both formative and summative formats. Different exercises and discussions are used to evaluate students as they are being taught and learning. This facilitates thorough and ongoing review, which helps to optimize the results. In addition, the students administer diagnostic exams to determine the teachings' strong and weak points. Additionally, remedial instruction is included, which aids in fixing the errors. The achievement test is administered in accordance with all necessary procedures, and accurate scoring analysis and interpretation are also completed.

Involvement in various activities in schools

Before the internship begins, students receive the necessary orientation on their active participation in a variety of school-related activities. Additionally, it is ensured that students genuinely enjoy and engage fully in the academic, cultural, and other events that are organized in schools through the observation of teacher educators, the evaluation of reflective journals, achievement tests, action research, and case studies.

Regularity, Initiative and Commitment:

The college's Pre-Internship orientation for student teachers emphasizes the value of commitment, initiative, and regularity. Students must sign the morning and evening attendance registers kept in schools in order to ensure regularity. Reviewing reflective diaries, interacting with mentor teachers and school principals, and monitoring all help to guarantee dedication and initiation.

Extent of job readiness:

Following two phases of school internship sessions, eighty classroom hours, student instructors are bound to emerge as competitive employment prospects. Due to their potential to impress the interview team with their topic knowledge, communication skills, confidence, positive attitude, and enthusiasm, they are placed in schools and other institutions rapidly.
