The application of information and communication technology (ICT) in organisations to deliver user services, increase productivity, and advance democratic values is known as e-governance. It serves as a platform for the prompt, effective, and transparent provision of services to all parties involved. E-governance's primary goal is to improve an organization's operational efficiency and transparency. The constant demands of the digital era are the source of this need for efficiency and transparency. The idea of e-governance is based on several fundamental principles, including more affordable and efficient communication, ease of use, accountability, openness, and enhanced customer service.

St. Gregorios Teacher Training College is making every effort to stay up to date with the latest developments in e-governance, which involve the performance of numerous tasks online and in digital form. The College Management provides the required infrastructure. Utilizing computers, laptops, interactive whiteboards, and other e-devices, teaching faculty members, non-teaching staff, and students can reap the benefits of contemporary technologies in higher education.

To oversee and control the computerization of all academic, financial, and administrative activities associated with the College, University of Calicut, and National Council for Teacher Education (NCTE), a well-equipped IT Administration Unit has been established. By planning ahead and adhering to the established schedules, the coordinator for e-Governance and Administrative Units will oversee the processes of data gathering and uploading.
